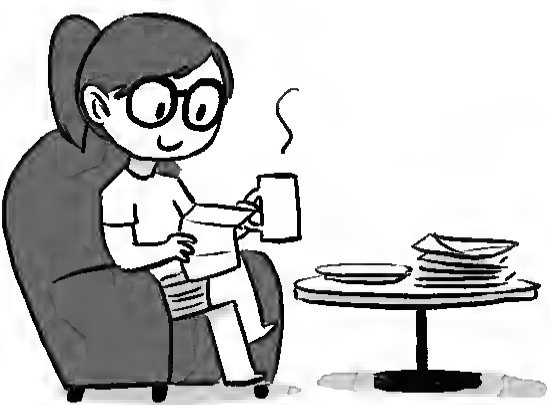
Ask The Author #4



Hi guys! I hope you enjoyed the polar bear episodes.

This episode, I'm answering reader questions while sipping on hot chocolate.
And taking a break

Winny Apituley

hello bonnie !! so happy that you get that masters degree 😉 i'm now in my last year in university too, so.. fingers crossed i can get my bachelor degree at the end of this year! hmm.. i'd like to know about the food !! Tell me about the foods you like and why you love them? ^.^ Do you like cooking ?? See ya Bonnie ! Have a great day ♡

I can draw an entire episode about the food I like.
So...let's just talk about food I like for breakfast.
difficulty
making choices

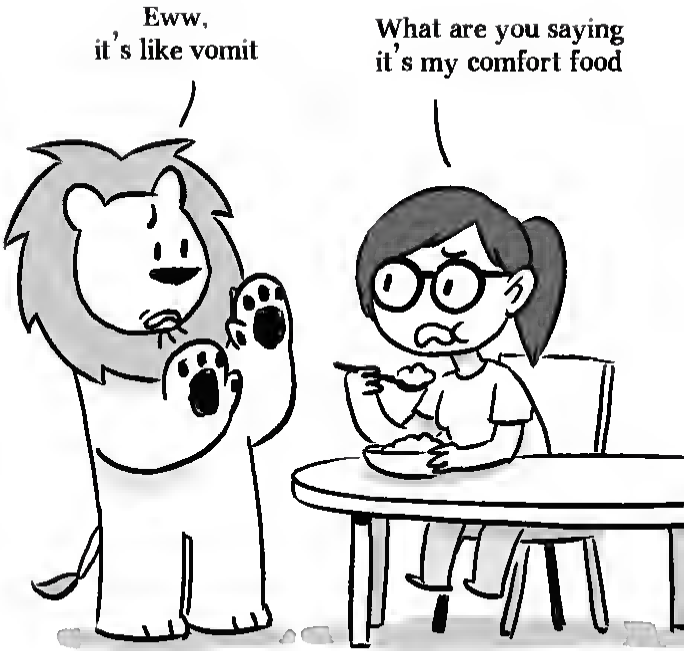
Recently, I enjoy eating...

plain

OATMEAL



Eww,
it's like vomit
What are you saying
it's my comfort food

AVOCADO

Also known as "alligator fruit", avocado is so good with toast
with salt and pepper
Don't look son

original

PEANUT BUTTER

× sugar
× palm oil

Most times I just eat right from the jar

Say no to palm oil, save an orangutan!

My cooking skills are only slightly better than Horsie.

hi bonnie!

I was wondering...

How many hours a week do you put into RSJ? Creative things take a lot of thought so it's amazing how you can come up with something new every week.

Thanks for all your time and energy! RSJ brightens my day.

One RSJ episode takes 10 hours on average.
That doesn't count story writing.
And you're right, it takes some creative juices to make comics.

natalicia

bonnie , can you share your tips on how you draw all the characters in RSJ ?

Basic shapes

Details

Done!

I'll show how I draw all RSJ characters later

when I start patreon!

Screablue

Are the bugs in the rsj universe as big as the characters or do they not exist?

So bugs usually don't show up in RSJverse,

unless I need them for some purpose.

Let's balance out Allie's hardness with...a butterfly!

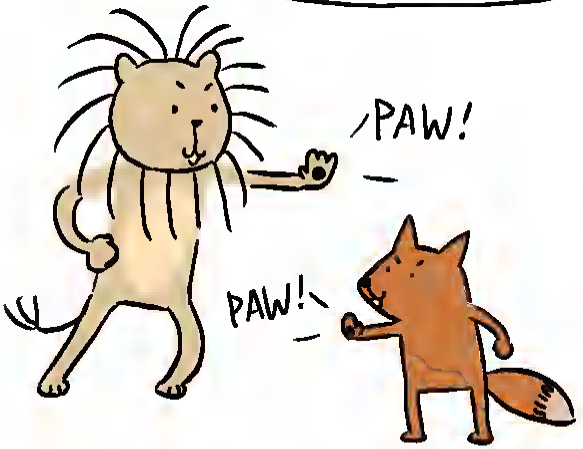
GISELLE

Hi Bonnie. I love u and RSJ so much💗! I have a question, please answer it in the next "Ask The Author"... My question is : if you're not writing RSJ, what are you doing now?? And my request is : can you make a special episode like RSJ is going to wonderland or meeting some mythical creatures....pleaseee?? Thanx

I would be drawing other comics and more artworks.
Always drawing.

But you'll never know, anythng can happen with second guessing.

I may be drawing a comic called Paw Street Journal instead.



RSJ in wonderland is fun!
I have a list of fairy tales to make RSJ twist versions.
Ideas for future episodes.

Yosan Muchdian

dear Bonnie.. can you tell leo to recruit PO to work in RSJ?

Pankhi
which was the first character that you drew/imagined while starting RSJ?

This...I need to find
those very early sketches....

But then I found even earlier sketches

before the offical RSJ begun.

You decide.

Lingkaeru1117

Hello Bonnie.

I want to ask you, how about fish, lobster, whale, and the other water animals?

Right now there're no water animals because I can't make them walk and breathe on land.

The under water world in RSJverse is like an unknown area waiting to be explored...

RPG
^ MAP OF RSJVERSE

More about this later.
If you have any idea for this, share it in the comments!

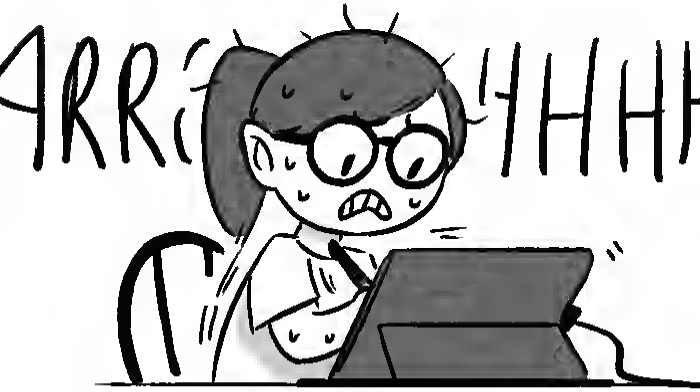
Jan

Happy Easter!

A question for Bonnie: What's the most dangerous situation you've been in?

When there is only 1 hour until deadline

and I haven't finished half of the comic



JustOnePurpose

Author,

How was your school life? Can you give any advice to those struggling a bit with academia

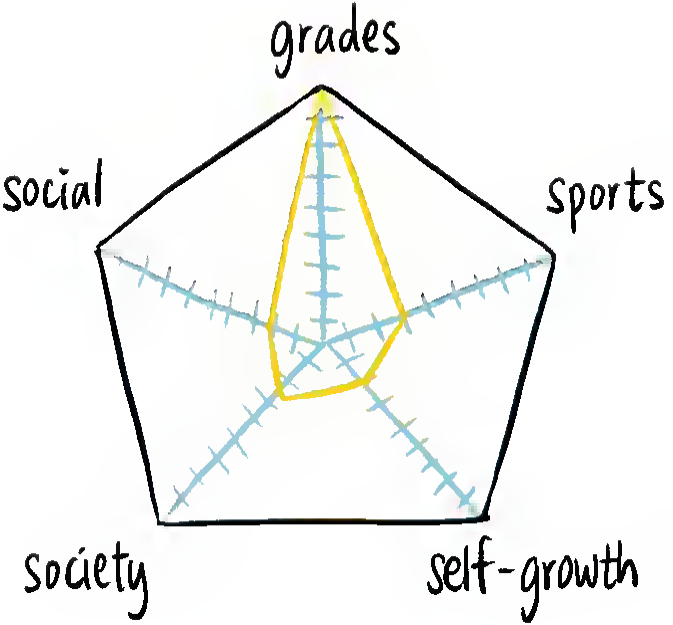
My school life was pretty straight forward.

I didn't skip classes, studied hard and got some nice grades.
I wish I had participated in more activities outside classes though.

My only tip would be make your own notes.
By doing this, you are actually teaching yourself.
That's what I did for every subject when I prepared for exams.

But always remember that grades are not everything.

Try to be a more all-rounded person.



grades
social sports
society
self-growth

Jellybean Fish

Bonnie, what is your favorite animal that is not in RSJ (don't want to hurt any feelings!) and would you have one if you could? It can be mythical, like unicorns and gryffins.

if I could only have a ...

FLYING UNICORN!

I didn't want to own one when I was small...

...I wanted to BE one.

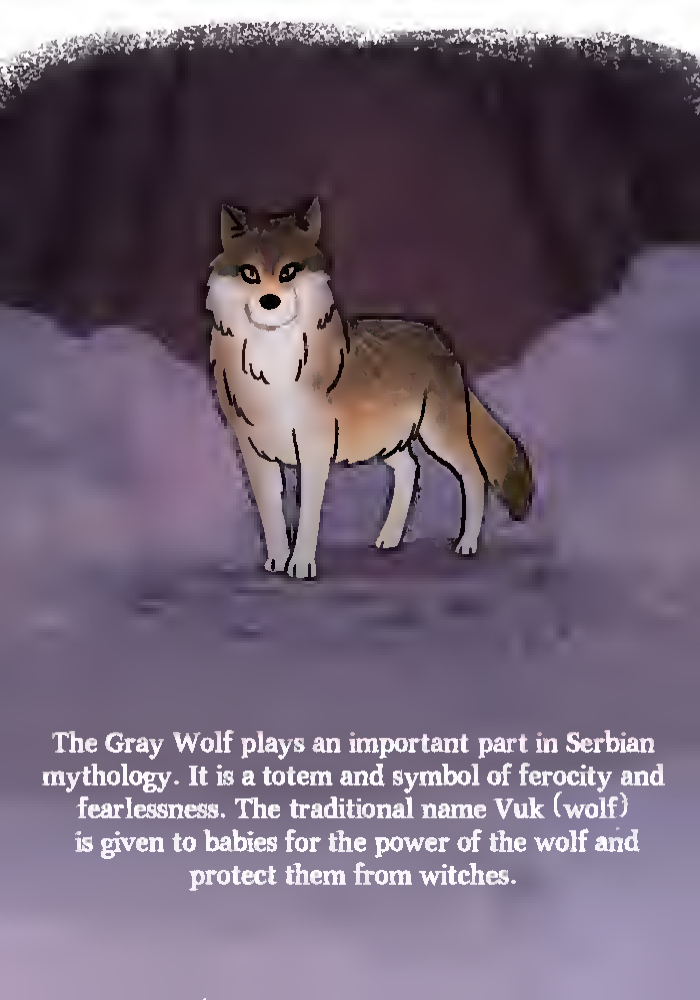
Hi I am from Serbia and our national animal is the gray wolf would you please draw a gray wolf? I lovee this web toon its so good greetings from Serbia!!!



The Gray Wolf plays an important part in Serbian mythology. It is a totem and symbol of ferocity and fearlessness. The traditional name Vuk (wolf) is given to babies for the power of the wolf and protect them from witches.
